Mr Allen Welsh Dulles

My Dear Sir:

As a retired man, now past my 78th birthday I try to keep up with the times and keep busy. In order to do this I have as a hobby an attempt to get together as large a collection as possible of autographs of important men and women in all walks of life from all over the world. This means watching the papers and writing many letters.

Up to this writing I have received over 1825 such autographs. They have come from 113 countries, territories and colonies, and around three or four hundred of them have been autographed portraits of the senders.

I feel that your autograph should also be in this collection which I call my "Who's Who in the World" and I have, therefore placed a card inside the enclosed addressed envelope which you can use for that purpose if you so wish.

Please accept my thanks now for any favor granted.
Sincerely yours
Maurice J. Hilcox
